Statement

I am an Italian American citizen born on June 27th, 1966 in Treviso, Italy.

I started to draw with the ink pen when I was only 5 years old: my father took home a rapidograph, an ink pen commonly used by Architects that time, and I never stopped to use it. My favourite subject was the urban landscape and in few years I won most of the painting competitions dedicated to kids of my age.

I drew very quickly and directly with the china without the help of pencil and rubber and in 1977 I exposed in my first solo exhibit in Treviso ("Forty drawings of an eleven years old boy"); the critics have predicted a successful career. Since very young I collaborated with editors and authors and at only 13 years old I got my most important success: I have been ranked first, among 350000 participants, at the National Drawing Competition in Rome, and my sketch of Treviso became a stamp of Italian Post (November 30th, 1980). The same year the Municipality, in recognition of the important success, invited me to exhibit my latest drawings of Treviso alongside those of my great grandfather who used the same technique a hundred years before. My family is important in the art field because for three generations (Girolamo, Mario and Memi Botter, the last my father), starting from 1890, saved and restored frescos in all the region of Veneto.

I decided to follow my family heritage in a different branch becoming Architect and in 1993 I graduated in Venice at the IUAV. Although I continued to draw while working as a professional, also because of the new tools, such as computers and CAD, I was reserving to this passion only my free time and vacations. During my trips in Europe and America I was habit to take with me my sketchbook to picture the most beautiful places I had the chance to visit.

After drawing my hometown for decades, I finally decided to sketch it from a bird's eye view in 1997: in those last years of the Millennium there was still no Google Map and I had to climb the towers of the churches to take pictures and sketches from the high to understand the city shape. It was from 1813 that no one had attempted to draw the city with a view of this complex. After three and a half months of hard work, the perspective map of Treviso was introduced to the Press on November 30th.

From 2002 to 2004 I was Teaching Assistant at the University of Architecture (Architectural Design Course 1, Prof. Arch.Claudio Panerari) and from 2006 to 2008 Professor of Techniques of Drawings and Surveying at the International University of Art at the Giudecca Island, Venice.

The economic crisis had made me rediscover the pleasure of drawing that has now replaced my previous employment. My drawing skill has turned into real job and now I am working in the United States of America where my art is well welcomed.

In 2012 I decided to come back to the U.S. where my mother, also a painter, lived in the 50s and 60s. In Pittsburgh - Pennsylvania, I did find the right place to continue my carrier in the field of art. On January 2013 I exhibited for the first time in the United States at GalleriE-Chiz in Shadyside, the most exclusive neighborhood of the city.

In my recent drawings of the "Steel City" I combine the Italian aesthetic background with a family history rooted in the U.S. to envision the American urban landscape. I like the contrast between modern and historic buildings, and my sign in black and white helps to blend very well details of the contemporary era.

I was featured many times on local and national magazines and my sketches of Pittsburgh were published in the cover of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette.

During 2014, I was awarded twice in the US: on April I was selected as Special Recognition Artist by Light Space & Time Online Gallery (Jupiter, FL) for the "City Scape" International Online Art Exhibition and on June I was Finalist at the "Richeson 75 International" in Kimberly, WI where I exhibited in the Jack Richeson School of Art & Gallery.

On August I had the chance to expose in a group show at the Fowler-Kellogg Art Center in Chautauqua, NY and in a solo show at The Old Village's Museum in West Overton (Somerset) Pa. On December 7th, the NIAF (National Italian American Foundation) in Washington, DC, nominated me as "Italian-A-Day" for my recent art activity and success in the US.

In 2015 I renewed my participation to the "Light Space & Time Online Art Gallery" monthly contest "CityScapes" (with sketches of my hometown Treviso) and I was awarded again as "SR" artist.

In spring I edited the bird's eye view of Pilsen in Czech Republic, the named "European Capital of Culture for 2015".

On July 2nd-5th, I exhibited at the Juried Fine Art Show at the "41st Westmoreland Arts & Heritage Festival" (Westmoreland County, PA) and from September 4th to October 1st, again in a solo art show at the Brazier Gallery in Richmond, VA.

Back to Italy, in October I was invited to take part at the IV International Exposition "Matite in viaggio" ("Pencils on Travel") in Mestre (Venice), Italy.

On November 30th, 2015, the Municipality of Treviso honored me placing in Pola Square a panel with the image of the first and only stamp picturing the city, I drew 35 years ago when I was 13 y.o.

Awarded as Special Merit Artist by Light Space & Time Online Gallery (Jupiter, FL) for the "City Scape" International Online Art Exhibition 2016 with a drawing of Pittsburgh, PA.

During the summer spent in Western Pennsylvania, I exhibited at the "Espresso a mano" Gallery in Lawrenceville neighborhood and then in New Castle's Hoyt Museum (PA) where I was awarded 3rd in the black and white category.

Group show "Matite in viaggio" (Pencils on travel" in Mestre.

Artist invited at the 17th Edition of the "Rendez-vous du Carnet de Voyage" in Clermont-Ferrand, France.

On December 2016 I got a Honorable Mention at the On-line International Art Contest "Black& White Fine Art and Photography" by the Prairie Art Gallery, Newkirk, Oklahoma.

In January 2017, two of my works have been selected for the collective exhibition "Torino Capitale Europea del Turismo" at the MIIT Museum, Turin - Italy (January 25th - February 11th).

In February I was awarded as "Special Merit Artist" at the 7th edition of the "Cityscapes" International Competition, Light Space & Time Online Gallery (Jupiter, FL).

In April, as a guest of the Municipality of Burghausen in Bavaria as "Artist in residence" for ten days, I exhibited 25 of my drawings at the Rathaus Gallery (City Gallery)

In June I received an "Honorable Mention" from the Fusion Art Gallery (Palm Springs, CA) at the International "Cityscapes" On-Line Competition.

I exhibited in the town of Frederick in Maryland, from September 2nd to October 22nd, at the Delaplaine Visual Art Education Center, following an international "Call for artists".

In November I was invited for about twenty days in the State of Indiana, as an "Artist in residence": I first exhibited in the town of Jasper, at the Krempp Community Gallery (from 1 to 29 November), and then at Columbus, the city considered the "Mecca of modern American architecture”, at Gallery 506 of the Columbus Area Visitors Center: I made 26 drawings of the most important modern architectures and of the temporary installations of the Miller Prize at the Biennial of Art and Design “Exhibit Columbus”; I also held workshops and lectures at local art schools and at Ivy Tech Community College.

A further “Honorable Mention” came in December from the Bauhaus Prairie Art Gallery in Newkirk, Oklahoma, on the occasion of the International Competition “:Landscape, Cityscapes and Interiors”

In January 2018 I was awarded 4th place at the International Art Contest “All paintings” from the Contemporary On-Line Gallery based in Annapolis, MD.

I received also an “Honorable Mention” and a “Special Merit” recognition at the 8th edition of the “Cityscapes” International Competition, Light Space & Time Online Gallery (Jupiter, FL).

In April I was awarded “Judges choice” at the International Art Competition “All Cityscapes 2018” by the Contemporary Art Gallery Online (Annapolis, MD).

In May I was selected as Finalist at the biennial Richeson 75 Art Competition “Landscape, Seascape and Architecture”, Richeson School of Art and Gallery, Kimberly - Wisconsin

During summer 2018 I showed my work in five different exhibitions:

15 June - 11 August - Kimberly, WI - USA, Richeson School of Art & Gallery (juried show)
“Landscape, Seascape and Architecture”: group exhibition of Finalists

3 August - 30 September - Lancaster, PA - City Hall Gallery
